

erected in Zion City, which a year later had a population of 10,000.

ZION CITY.

In Zion City Dowie was supreme. The title of the town was bought with the money of the sect reared in him. Lots were leased, not sold. Running for 99 years, these leases were filled with the following restrictions:

The premises shall never be used for a slaughter house, saloon or beer garden, tobacco store, opium joint, theater, gambling establishment, dance hall, circus, pharmacy, drug store, office or residence of a practicing physician or surgeon, place for selling pork or secret meeting place.

In December, 1902, Zion City was placed under control of a federal receivership, which was dissolved a week later on Dowie's presentation of ability to pay dollar for dollar on all indebtedness. At that time Dowie estimated the value of his holdings in Zion City at $25,000,000.

SECOND ZION CITY.

Eighteen months ago Dowie began the promotion of a second Zion City in Mexico. While engaged in this undertaking his health failed and he went to Jamaica for his health. While there he suffered a stroke of paralysis from which he never fully recovered. It was at this time that he appointed Wilbur Glenn Voliva, his first lieutenant and general overseer of the church. The month Voliva took charge of Zion City he, by a power of attorney vested in him by Dowie, had all the property belonging to the church transferred from Dowie to Overseer Granger, charging extravagance and gross mismanagement by Dowie. Voliva called all the Zionists to the tabernacle in Zion City and denounced Dowie. With the exception of less than 200 of Dowie's former followers, all the inhabitants of Zion City chose Voliva as their future leader and word was sent to Dowie in Mexico that he had been deposed. He immediately started for Chicago and took the controversy to the courts for settlement.

AMUSEMENTS.

Theater—The great festival days in the experience of university students are commencement day, the interstate track meet, the football struggle with Boulder, and the annual plunge of the dramatic class into the arctic sea. The last event rolled around again last evening, and the big institution on the hill was handsomely represented in the theater by professors and students, of all classes and degrees. The Horshoe was the biggest which has greeted the young players of the university for a long time past. The evening was one round of laughter and applause. There was a double bill provided, the first being a curtain raiser, "A Match for a Magistrate," participated in by Miss Edna Harker and Mr. W. F. Miffin, two of the university's veterans. Miss Harker especially did very pretty work, and was distinguished for her charming make-up. She and Mr. Miffin brought out excellently the points of the sketch light wasted as its plot undoubtedly was. One could not help smiling when the critical moment arrived, at the accommodating spirit of Horshoe who turned his back upon the precious document in order that the young lady might purloin it undetected. Both players had a curtain call.

"Mr. Bob," a rattling comedy, introduced several new members, all of whom made decided scores. Principal credit is due to Mr. Richard W. Young, Jr., whose rendition of Philip was delightfully natural, and free from the amateur suggestion of Miss McManus, who had a recall for a pretty dance. Miss Hazel Barnes, Miss Nellie Mahon and Miss Lyle Cleghorne, made up a quartet of lady comedians, who did their work excellently throughout. Mr. Marshall has been rendered so well, and Mr. Hart as "Mr. Hart," shared in the general favor, especially for his dance. The comedy, while not of the deepest, afforded all the people an excellent chance, and it was refreshing to note that they did not neglect the handicaps by their roles, as they have been in some of the heavier comedies in past productions.

Special mention is due Mr. Alvin Peterson, who directed in the absence of Miss Babcock.

JOHN T. AXTON, COMMISSARY.

Unique Position for the Chaplain of the 18th Infantry.

According to the Leavenworth papers, Chaplain John T. Axton of the Eighteenth Infantry, has been appointed Post Commissary at Fort Leavenworth, where he is now taking bread and distributing meat to 3,000 men every day. He takes the place of Capt. W. F. Grole who is off on extended sick leave, a position equivalent to brigade commissary, as all branches of the service, except the heavy coast artillery, is represented at that post. Col. Wilder, the inspector-general of the department, was so surprised that a chaplain should be detailed to such a position that he made special inquiry on the occasion of his recent inspection of the fort, but was satisfied that the commanding officer had made a good appointment. Chaplain Axton is also made treasurer of Fort Leavenworth, so that he has a double barrelled job on his hands. It is said that it is not known when a chaplain was before appointed to so important a position, as commissary and treasurer of such a large military post, though at minor station such details have been made. As post treasurer, Chaplain Axton takes the place of First Lieut. W. W. Bissell of the Fifteenth Infantry.

The Eighteenth Infantry is ordered to sail for the Philippines Oct. 3, by which time the chaplain hopes to get the $30,000 local Y. M. C. A. building completed, and the $15,000 addition to the Fort Leavenworth chapel. He intends bringing his family back to Salt Lake this summer, where they will remain while the regiment is in the islands.

COMMENCING TO TRAIN.

University Athletes Getting Down to Work on the Track.

With the drying up of the campus the athletes at the University of Utah are commencing to train for the spring track meets. This year the number of athletes is fewer than usual but Coach Maddock is pleased with the large amount of promising new material. In the field events the school is short of both high and broad jumpers. But in order to stimulate effort along this line the coach has promised that every man who can jump over 20 feet will go to Provo with the team.

In the track events the team is short of experienced men in nearly every event but there are several men at the school that made good records at the various high schools of the state. There are also several who have been doing some good training at the Y. M. C. A. This winter and from these it is expected that some will make good.

The only meet scheduled for the track team in the state is the one for April 27 with the B. Y. U. in Provo. It is expected that the team will go to the Rocky Mountain meet at Boulder and may also meet one or two of the Colorado schools.

WOMEN HOLDUPS.

Jap Robbed of $50; Miner "Touched" For $175 by Female.

A Jap named Y. Higashi, told a strange story to the police last night. He declared that he had been robbed by two young women of $50, and that the female forced him to hand over his money by using a big bowie knife and threatening to kill him if he did not comply with their demands. The Jap says he was walking down Riverside street when he was attracted by a handsome young woman. She asked him to step into a doorway. He did so, and the woman, who was armed with a big knife, forced him to hand over his money or be killed. After getting the cash the women made their escape and the police were unable to locate them.

Just Herstrom, a miner from Nevada, reported that he fell in with a handsome looking colored woman on State and Fourth South streets last night and when he and the wench parted she was minus $475. He says the woman induced him to walk with her and she emptied his pockets.

Suddenly she departed, and when Herstrom recovered his senses he was minus his dollars.

This morning the police arrested a colored woman named Jennie Street, on suspicion of being the person who robbed a miner from Nevada named Herstrom of $475. The woman has not as yet been identified.

Shortly before noon Detectives Chase and Burt arrested three women on suspicion of robbing the Jap. Their names are Mrs. J. M. Curran, Rena Washington and Minnie Jackson. The women are in jail and officers are trying to get a confession from them, but they deny any knowledge of the robbery.

PROPELEVATOR INVENTED.

Salt Lake Man Has Machine With Great Water Lifting Power.

There are many plats of excellent land where irrigation is necessary, so situated that streams cannot reach them in the usual way, while there may be water in a nearby river, canal, pond, spring, or even underground, which might be economically lifted if suitable machinery were available; hence the suggestion of pumps.

Pumps of various kinds have been made and sold for many years, most of them being made by men of the old Archimedian screw. Experiments have also been made by persons thinking in some way to escape, partially or wholly, the law of gravitation. Of course they have met with disappointment. At present there are pumps suitable and adapted for almost every requirement of human necessity.

Irrigation being the last general requirement sprung upon modern necessity, it is the one least provided for, able of entering the field of lifting water in sufficient quantity for even the short lifts for which ordinary agriculture can pay. The few that are capable, when employed, work at a disadvantage, and consequently at a discouraging expense. This deters their more general use. Many thousands of dollars, however, have already been expended in pumping plants.

If the source of supply is sufficient, no pump should be used for irrigation of less capacity than one cubic foot per second. Smaller streams than that are usually of antiquated origin, as a farmer, as he usually has to double up his stream with his neighbor, if he can, getting service but half the time to spread water over his land. To use a small stream is both a waste of water and a waste of time. Besides, small streams require reservoirs, which generally are expensive and are waste in both in evaporation and in seepage.

FRICITION TO BE AVOIDED.

The point to be reached in lifting water is to fulfill the law of gravitation with the least possible margin of resistance by friction. It must be remembered that pliable as water is, it offers resistance if violently disturbed. Therefore, in the bulk required for irrigation, it must be handled carefully, slowly and without agitation caused by narrow passages, quick eddies and flow, small pipes, etc. It must, in the main, go back to the old style of penstock and flume, chiefly used in limited falls to drive machinery.

Water may be lifted up through the floor of a penstock by sliding a series of inclined planes underneath, while the water itself is not moved or agitated, except to lift it at about the same speed as a placid river.

"PROPELEVATOR" INVENTED.

The "Propelevator" is a miniature machine, exhibited on the streets of this city, shows a small upright box representing a penstock, with frame work at the top providing a journal for an upright shaft. The shaft carries a wheel fitted on a circular opening in the bottom of the penstock box. The wheel is 12 inches in diameter, and is provided on its outer edge with wings or fans, which form a series of inclined planes, which, as the wheel revolves, slide swiftly under the water, causing it to rise perpendicularly up the box and discharging over a spill or weir at the upper side. At the top of the shaft is located a pulley to receive power, and a bevel gear may be used to change motion to a horizontal shaft with crank-wheel, adapting it to a convenient use.

HAS POWERFUL LIFT.

Spectators, men and boys, have tried their ability to lift water by means of the device, with astonishing results. Boys 12 or 13 years of age lifted as much as 150 gallons in 10 minutes, according to the speed they were able to attain, the lift being two feet, and under the manipulation of stronger hands, as much as two-thirds of a cubic foot per second was discharged over the spill back into the tank in which the machine sits.

The cost of the machine is said to be less than for other pumps of the same capacity. It can be worked by any convenient power, and can be made available for lifting from five to 50 feet above the source of supply. The inventor of the pump is Job Smith, of 1134 Downingtown avenue, Salt Lake City.

PUG KNOCKED OUT.

Tennessee Slim Laid Out by Bartender With an Ice Pick.

An alleged puglist whose true name is W. E. Sloan, but who goes by the title of Tennessee Slim, and who was recently knocked out by Jack Christy, received another knockout this morning, and is now in the city jail nursing his battered head. When brought to the police station by Deputy Sheriff Sharp, Sloan's head was covered with blood and he presented a most gruesome sight. With the alleged fighter was a man named Ed Gilbert. He sported a black eye and a cut face.

The men went into a Main street saloon this morning and thought they owned the place. It is claimed they started trouble and were having a joyous time until the bartender, armed with an ice pick, took a hand. He struck Gilbert and put him down and out, when Slim made a lunge at the bartender. The latter did not propose to injure his hands, so used the ice pick on Sloan's head. He went down for the count and "Referee" Sharp called the bout off by taking the pair to the station.

RAILROAD NEWS.

STILL IN THE AIR.

Recent Conference Between Trainmen and Officials Accomplishes Nothing. (Special to the "News.")

Ogden, March 9.—The local representatives of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen and Order of Railway Conductors have returned home. They went to Oakland to hear the reports of the general chairman of the two orders, R. McIndire and S. Veach, concerning the recent meeting they had with the representatives of 42 railroads had with the general managers of the roads at Chicago last month, for the purpose of adjusting slight differences in wages and hours. The gentlemen report that while the meeting in Chicago resulted in good, yet the representatives of the orders who went there were unable to definitely accomplish their purpose, as they went under absolute instructions what to demand and to what their claims were not accepted and the railroad companies made a counter proposition they were unable to accept that, and that the representatives of the railroad managers to wait on them for a reply, which reply has been practically decided upon. Mr. Messinger, one of the local representatives who just returned from the Oakland meeting says the matters under consideration are working out satisfactorily, and that the representatives of both orders are working harmoniously together and they expect to get an adjustment of the entire matter in the near future. He says there is no foundation for the talk of a possible strike, as there is but a slight margin between the railroad companies and the employees in these departments and this will be settled by arbitration to the satisfaction of all concerned, as when the representatives return to Chicago for another meeting they will be in a position to act on the questions pending and it is expected that everything pertaining to the request for fewer hours and an increase of pay will be adjusted at that time.
